The Archdiocese has a new church – St. Peter in Big Pine Key – and a new Synod – in every parish, plus three new Apple Distinguished Schools: Cardinal Gibbons, St. Anthony and St. Mark. That's just some of the news in the latest editions of the Florida Catholic and La Voz Católica, which also include a column by Archbishop Thomas Wenski on Nikolas Cruz and the death penalty.

Our Catholic belief...

BUT AS FOR ME, I KNOW THAT MY VINDICATOR LIVES, AND FROM MY FLESH
I SHALL SEE GOD; MY INMOST BEING IS CONSUMED WITH LONGING.

(Job 19: 25,26)

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ!

As Christians, we profess faith in the incarnation of the Word made flesh and His bodily resurrection, which we will share on the Last Day. We are reminded of the words of Saint Paul who wrote to the Corinthians: "You must know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit who is within the Spirit you have received from God. You are not your own. You have been purchased, and at a price. So glorify God in your body". (I Corinthians 6:19-20) .

As we approach All Saints Day, All Souls Day, and the whole month of November dedicated for our prayers for all our faithful departed, please find below some helpful information regarding Christian funerals, cremations, and burials, excerpted from the Statement and Policy on Cremation in the Province of Miami, approved by the Bishops, December 4, 2006:

Does the church allow cremation of the body?

Catholics may choose cremation, provided it in no way expresses a denial of the Catholic teaching of the dignity of the body, created by Almighty God to be a temple of the Holy Spirit and destined to share fully in the Resurrection of the just on the Last Day. Although the church understands that certain circumstances and preferences may exist for individuals or relatives to seek cremation, she maintains as a first preference the funeral rites with the body present and its immediate burial in a cemetery.

Thus, while "cremation is now permitted, it does not enjoy the same value as burial of the body. The Church clearly prefers and urges that the body of the deceased be present for the funeral rites, since the presence of the human body better expresses the values which the Church affirms in its rites." (Order of Christian Funerals, 413)

If cremation is chosen, when should the body be cremated?

The church recommends that the body be cremated after the funeral, thus allowing for the presence of the body at the funeral Mass. When pastoral circumstances require it, however, cremation and committal may take place even before the funeral liturgy. Pastors in Florida can grant permission on an individual basis for cremated remains to be present at the funeral Mass, provided they will be buried immediately after the funeral Mass.

How should the cremated remains be treated?

The cremated remains of a body should be treated with the same respect given to the corporeal remains of a human body. This includes the use of a worthy vessel to contain the ashes, the manner in which they are carried, the care and attention to appropriate placement and transport, and the final disposition.” (Order of Christian Funerals, 417)

What is the proper method for final disposition of the cremated remains?

The final disposition of cremated remains should always reflect the Christian belief in the bodily resurrection and the respect afforded to the human body, even after death. The church recommends that the burial or entombment of the cremated remains occur without delay, once the cremation process is completed. Cremated remains are to be placed in an urn (or other suitable container) and buried in the ground, or entombed in a columbarium. Catholics are strongly encouraged to be buried or entombed in a Catholic cemetery or the Catholic section of a non-Catholic cemetery.

What practices for handling cremated remains are to be avoided?

The practice of scattering cremated remains on the sea, from the air, or on the ground, or keeping cremated remains in the home of a relative or friend of the deceased are not the reverent disposition the church requires. Such methods of disposing of cremated remains are inconsistent with the due respect and honor that the church wants to preserve for her departed children. The practice of a common grave, ground or niche where the cremated remains of several persons are scattered, poured, buried or combined without individual urns is to be completely avoided in Catholic cemeteries. Catholics should not select this practice for the final disposition of their mortal, cremated remains.

Can cremated remains be divided or combined with those of others?

Each urn is to contain the cremated remains of only one person. The cremated remains of one person are not to be divided but rather are always kept in the same urn.

If, then, we have died with Christ, we believe that we shall also live with him
(Romans 6:8)
